Dear Friends of Orange Coast College Foundation:

Since its formal inception in 1985 the Orange Coast College Foundation has built a legacy of providing support for programs and projects that benefit the students of Orange Coast College. The just completed 2004-2005 fiscal year was one of the most remarkable in our 20 year history and many of our highlights are chronicled in this report.

I am particularly grateful to the generous donors acknowledged in this report whose continuing gifts benefit our students through scholarships, support of the college's performing and visual arts programs, assistance for the Harry & Grace Steele Children's Center, funding for OCC athletic teams, gifts to the college's nationally renowned School of Sailing and Seamanship, and a myriad of college programs and projects.

2005 - 2006 promises to be another exciting year with the beginning of construction on the long-awaited Frank M. Doyle Arts Pavilion for which the OCC Foundation has received over $2.25 million in private support.

Sincerely,

Del Heintz, Chairman
Orange Coast College Foundation, 2003 - 2005

OCC Foundation has Record Year

Orange Coast College's Foundation raised a record total $5.5 million in donations during the 2004-05 academic year.

Between July 1, 2004 and June 30, 2005 the foundation raised $5,518,481 in cash and in-kind donations. That more than doubled the previous year's total of $2,604,384. It bested by 2.8 percent the previous all-time OCC record of $5,365,944. That record was established 2002-03.

The Foundation's cash donations for 2004-05 totaled a record $2,550,343, eclipsing OCC's previous best "cash" year by 23.5 percent. The college raised $1.95 million in cash in 2001-02.

Orange Coast raised $2,968,138 in in-kind gifts last year, up a whopping 231 percent over the previous year's total of $1,285,319. It was more than $500,000 short, however, of the best "in-kind" year ever, in 2002-03.

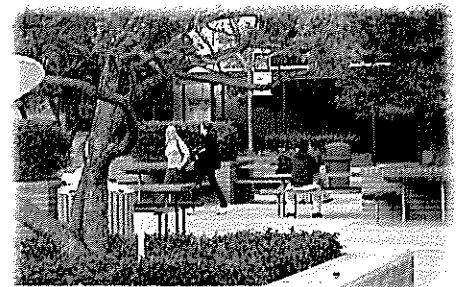

OCC's Foundation boasts total assets that are valued at more than $17 million.

Significant major cash gifts received by the college in 2004-05 included a $906,000 bequest from the estate of former faculty member, Shirley Brooke; $260,000 from retired OCC librarian, George Ciarlo for scholarships and the library; $200,039 for the School of Sailing and Seamanship Endowment from an anonymous donor; and $50,000 from the Stuart Foundation for OCC's Guardian Scholars Program.

Significant 2004-05 in-kind gifts included the motor-yacht Kialoa, from yachtsman, Jim Kilroy, and a 1986 Bertram sport fisher, Lucky L, presented by Tom Larkin of Newport Beach.

"Our 2004-05 fund raising efforts have been extremely gratifying," said Del Heintz, chair of OCC's Foundation. "Orange Coast College is the community's institution, and the community has been extremely supportive."

Since its formal inception in the spring of 1986, the college's Foundation has received a total of more than $43.8 million in gifts. Gifts have been split almost equally between cash ($21.1 million) and in-kind ($22.7 million) donations.

2004-2005 Annual Report

OCC Foundation Financial Overview

The 2004-2005 Annual Report for the Orange Coast College Foundation features some of the ways Orange Coast College supporters have given to Coast for donor supported programs and activities of the college.

The OCC Foundation offers donors a variety of deferred giving opportunities including charitable gift annuities, securities transfer, life insurance gifts, bargain sales and bequests.

The Orange Coast College Foundation is a tax-exempt 501(c)3 non-profit organization and all contributions to the Foundation are tax deductible to the extent allowed by the law.

OCC welcomes

Kialoa III

to its docks

After 31 years of ownership, Jim Kilroy gave his 80-foot aluminum sloop to the Orange Coast College School of Sailing and Seamanship in Newport Beach CA, one of the nation's largest public nautical schools with a strong offshore sail training program.

"After a wonderful three decades of racing and world cruising, it was important to me that Kialoa III continue on with her tradition of great friendships and voyages," said Kilroy, who is Chairman of the Board of Kilroy Realty, one of the nation's largest industrial real estate firms.

Hundreds of well known racing sailors have crewed aboard the famous yacht, which dramatically broke the Sydney to Hobart race record in 1975 and held it for 21 years. Kialoa's dozens of race victories included the Transatlantic, Transpac, China Sea, Swiftsure, and the World Ocean Racing Championships.

But more than the victories, Kilroy enjoyed the "Kialoa family," an evolving group of skilled amateur sailors who would comprise Kialoa's 16 to

"Kialoa's a tremendous boat, well-built, strong, fast, with an incredible history. We're very excited."

22 person crew during her aggressive racing career. Many went on to sailing fame and skippering their own boats. "Sailing on Kialoa has always been about giving 100% when racing and then having a great time together ashore. We've had a lot of wins, great friendships, and tremendous experiences." Kilroy said.

Designed by Sparkman & Stephens and built by the Palmer Johnson shipyard in 1974, Kialoa was the third of Kilroy's five big racing yachts. Each yacht built upon the successes and knowledge of her owner, in a career that ultimately spanned a half century of ocean racing. However, Kialoa III remained Kilroy's favorite. When her racing career ended in the early 1980's, Kilroy converted her into a comfortable cruising yacht and explored the world. In the last decade, Kialoa III has cruised the Mediterranean, Caribbean, South Pacific, New Zealand, and South America.

Kialoa III was delivered by her crew to Panama, where ownership transferred to Orange Coast College. A crew from the College's sailing school met the boat in Panama and sailed her to Newport Beach, arriving in mid June. According to OCC sailing program director Brad Avery, Kialoa is a welcome addition to the School's fleet of three dozen boats. "Kialoa III is an extraordinary gift for our program, Avery said. "She's a tremendous boat, well-built, strong, fast, with an incredible history. We're very excited."

Kialoa joins another famous yacht at the College, the 65-foot Alaska Eagle. The College has owned the former global racer for 23 years and has sailed the vessel more than 300,000 miles throughout the world on student training voyages.

The School of SAILING & SEAMANSHIP | Orange Coast College

BOAT DONATIONS

The OCC School of Sailing and Seamanship continued to receive significant gifts of yachts and boating related equipment in 2004. Major gifts included the 67' motoryacht Cheyenne, the 46' sportfisher Lucky L II, (shown here) and the 52' racing sailboat Victoria. Dozens of smaller craft were also donated. The value of these gifts exceeds $2 million.

For more information on donating your boat or marine gear, please call Brad Avery, Director Orange Coast College School of Sailing and Seamanship at (949) 645-9412.

Orange Coast College Receives $900,000 Gift from Estate of Former Faculty Member

The Orange Coast College Foundation received a $900,702 gift from the estate of former faculty member, Shirley Jane Brooke.

Brooke, a longtime Costa Mesa resident, died at her home in March of 2003. She was a member of OCC's physical education faculty from 1956 through 1964. She taught a variety of physical education courses, and coached OCC's women's basketball, field hockey and softball squads.

Born in West Haven, Conn., Brooke received her bachelor's degree in physical education from New York University, and earned an M.A. in physical education from Florida State University. Prior to joining OCC's faculty, she taught at Los Angeles City College. She also taught high school in Illinois, and served as an officer in the United States Navy, from 1948-52.

Brooke left the college in 1964 to open a bookstore in Costa Mesa, which she maintained for many years.

"This is the largest cash bequest the college has ever received," says OCC Foundation director, Doug Bennett. "It ranks as our fourth largest gift ever."

In addition to leaving the major portion of her estate to Orange Coast College, Brooke, who had no living relatives, provided two bequests for $100,000 each to California State University at Long Beach and Pepperdine University.

The Foundation has allocated $18,000 to establish a lending library of textbooks this Spring, and to provide scholarships for students who can't afford to purchase classroom books.

The Foundation has allocated $18,000 to establish a lending library of textbooks
for students

Using these funds and combining them with other donations that have been contributed to the Foundation, OCC's Library has purchased 200 of the top textbooks that are being used in Orange Coast College classrooms this spring.

"Students are able to come into the library and check out a chemistry, history or political science textbook or a host of other subjects for use in the library for a two- or four-hour period," says OCC Foundation director, Doug Bennett.

"Additionally, funds have been set aside to purchase books for students whose circumstances such as child care issues or work-related difficulties prevent them from being able to utilize the books on reserve in the library. Following the spring semester, we will assess the program and adjust as needed to best meet the needs of our students."

"The Orange Coast College Foundation understands that one of the biggest obstacles students face in being successful today is the rising cost of textbooks," says Foundation chairman, Del Heintz. Heintz is vice president of Comcast Cable in Costa Mesa.

"We hope that by establishing this book scholarship program, and developing a lending library of textbooks, we can begin to alleviate some of the challenges that OCC students face."

For information about the lending library program, contact Carl Morgan in the OCC Library, at (714) 432-0202, ext. 21058, or Doug Bennett in the Foundation Office at (714) 432-5126.

OCC's Wheeler Station provides a summer base for OCC students pursuing studies in marine science, photography, geology, and environmental studies.

When Henry Wheeler donated Rabbit Island to Orange Coast College in 2002 he did so "to inspire college students to learn more about the distinctive marine setting of the Pacific Northwest". OCC made significant steps towards this goal in 2004 - 2005.

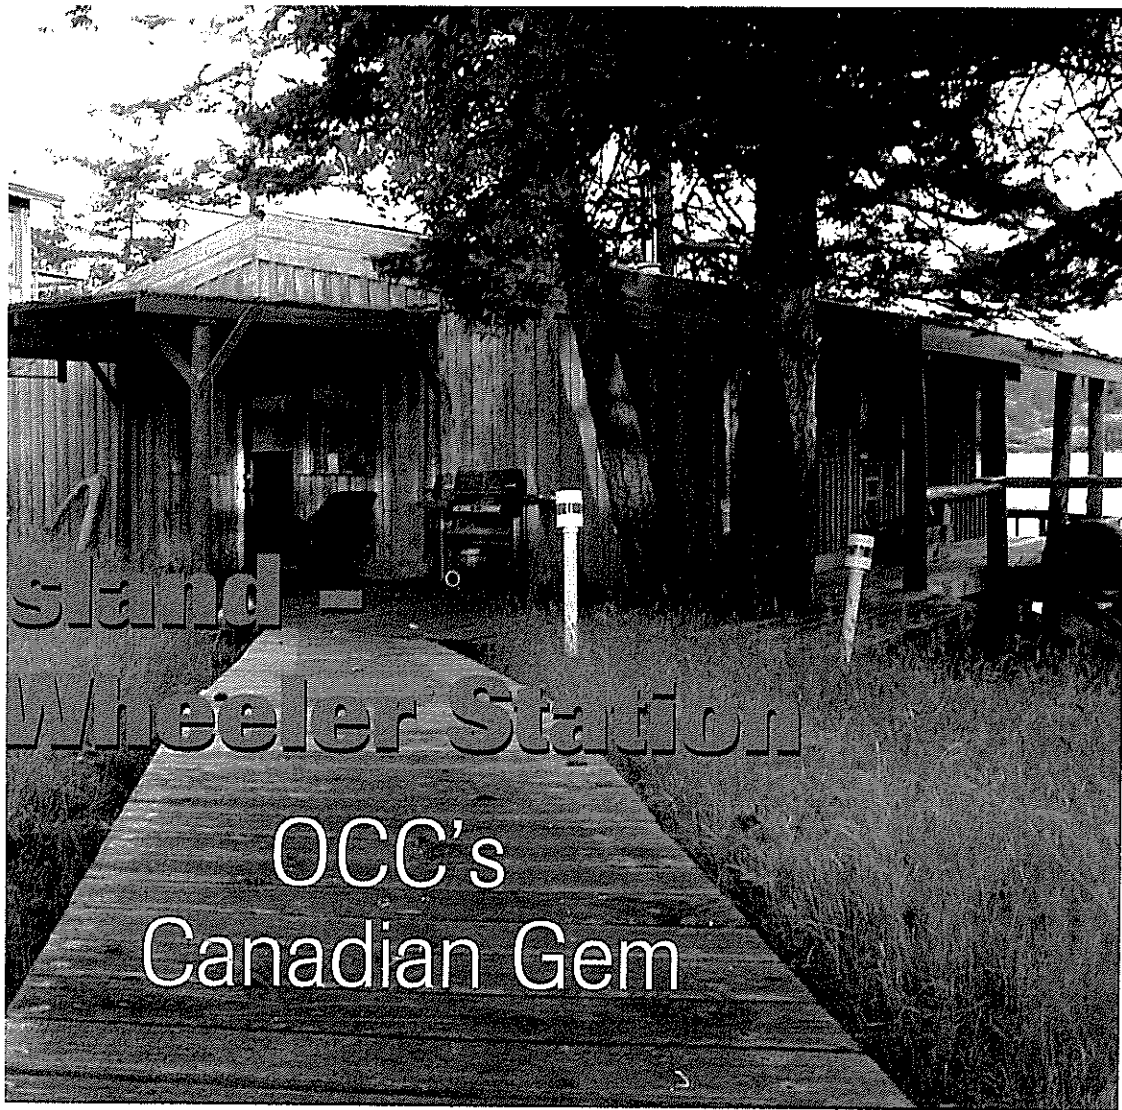

Located 50 miles north of Vancouver, the heavily wooded isle lies between Vancouver Island and the Canadian mainland in the Gulf Islands archipelago. At the time of donation Rabbit Island, consisted of four large water-view cabins, a cozy lodge and a few other out-buildings. The island is supplied with its own power through a diesel generator and solar and wind generation. A desalinization system provides fresh water.

In 2004 and early 2005, staff from OCC's School of Sailing and Seamanship made several trips to the Island to complete major facility repairs and improvements in cooperation with Hugh Jervis, the island's caretaker. Major improvements included the construction of a 200-foot dock and float, which allows large boat access to the Island at any tide. All four cabins received interior improvements, including new flooring, furniture, and wash rooms. A new separate restroom facility was constructed next to the lodge.

The summer of 2004 saw the first of OCC's credit courses to be offered at its Pacific Northwest campus. OCC marine science professor, Dennis Kelly offered Marine Intertidal Ecology and Visual Arts instructor, Blade Gillissen offered his Special Projects Photography course. Both were well attended with the Photography class being registered to capacity. Gillissen's class was partially sponsored through donations from Fuji Film, Polaroid and local vendors. A rep from Fuji accompanied the students on their week-long stay, provided film for their projects, and access to state of the art equipment for their portfolio development. After their return from the Island and completion of the course, a month long photography exhibit titled "Rabbit Island: The Show" was displayed in the OCC Art Center.

Because of their success both of these courses were offered in Summer of 2005, along with William Breece's course in "Field Archaeology" and a biodiversity study initiated by Marc Perkins. The college also offered a non-credit photography course taught by accomplished professional photographer Don Gale and kayaking courses. The college is well on its way to its goal of providing an outstanding summer field station base for OCC students pursuing knowledge in marine science, photography, geology, and environmental studies.

More information on the island and courses can be found at: <http://rabbit-island.net>

OCC Receives $100,000 Ebell Club Gift

to Support Arts Pavilion and Arts Division

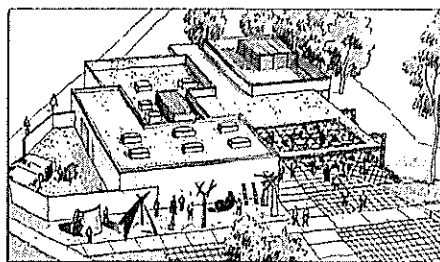

Orange Coast College's Foundation has received a $100,000 gift from the Ebell Club of Newport Beach to create an operating fund for the new $4-million Frank M. Doyle Arts Pavilion on campus.

The money also aids the college's Performing and Visual Arts Division.

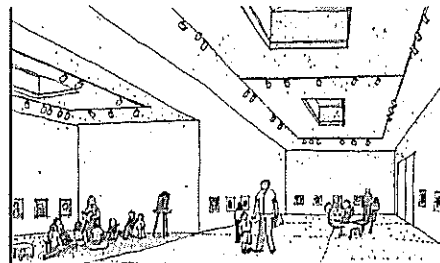

OCC Foundation director, Doug Bennett, reports that $90,000 of the $100,000 gift is earmarked for the Frank M. Doyle Arts Pavilion. The remaining $10,000 will support the college's Performing and Visual Arts Division.

"We are especially grateful to the Ebell Club of Newport Beach for their support," said Doug Bennett, Executive Director of the OCC Foundation. "The Ebell has been a philanthropic supporter of OCC and its students since the 1950's. Many OCC students have benefited from Ebell Club scholarships and now thousands of people in the community will be able to enjoy the Doyle Arts pavilion thanks to their generosity."

Arts Pavilion - Overview

Children's Book Nook

Arbor Area

Construction will begin in September on the 8,500-square-foot Frank M. Doyle Arts Pavilion, which will be a companion building to the college's beautiful new $15-million Arts Center, which opened three years ago. The Pavilion will feature an Art Gallery, a Young Artists Gallery and a Gallery Cafe.

OCC's Arts Pavilion is being constructed with private funds. More than $2.5 million has already been secured for the project by the college's Foundation.

A $1-million gift was received in 2002 from the family of former Orange County developer, Frank M. Doyle. Doyle built homes in Huntington Beach, Costa Mesa, Fountain Valley, Westminster, Garden Grove and Anaheim. He built the first condominiums to be constructed in Southern California.

Orange Coast Golf Classic Nets $35,000

The Orange Coast Golf Classic, held Monday, October 25th at the Mesa Verde Country Club in Costa Mesa, netted more than $35,000 for OCC's Foundation.

The tournament was sponsored by PacifiCare and Hoag

Hoag Foundation Grant Insures that OCC will Become First Two-Year College with Baby Simulator

The Orange Coast College Foundation has received a $42,000 grant from the George Hoag Family Foundation of Santa Monica to purchase a baby simulator for use by students enrolled in its School of Allied Health Professions.

The simulator arrived on campus this summer for Fall classes beginning Monday, Aug. 29.

OCC becomes the initial community college in the nation to have a BabySIM on its campus. Four years ago, OCC was the first of California's 109 community colleges to have the adult patient simulator on campus, purchased for $200,000.

The only other BabySIM in the state of California is currently being used by medical students at the University of California, Davis.

BabySIM and the adult human patient simulator are manufactured by Medical Education Technologies, Inc. (METI) of Sarasota, Fla. BabySIM will be used by students training in OCC's Respiratory Care, Cardiovascular Technology, Diagnostic Sonography, Neurodiagnostic Technology, Radiology, and Emergency Medical Technology departments.

BabySIM includes such complex characteristics as realistic touch and feel, clinched fists and a loving layer of baby fat. Those features will provide OCC students with an extraordinarily realistic experience with a three-to-six-month-old "baby."

"Such critical care interventions as infant CPR, airway interventions, drug administration and defibrillation can be applied to the BabySIM," says Kevin T. Ballinger, dean of OCC's Consumer and Health Sciences Division.

"This new simulator will prepare Orange Coast College allied health students to face critical events involving babies that are routinely encountered in real-world health care situations. Babies are our most vulnerable patients, and OCC wants its students to be fully competent in dealing with any crisis that might arise."

OCC's full-size adult simulator has been providing students with valuable on-campus training for four years. The BabySIM will be located in a laboratory that was specifically remodeled several years ago to accommodate the adult simulator.

Hospital. A major contributor to the tourney was OCC Alumni Hall of Famer Jim Glidewell of Glidewell Industries.

The winning team was Glidewell's foursome. The team included Glidewell, George Dahl, Richard Mulhauser and Toby Bogard. The second-place team was led by former OCC Foundation Board chair, Marc Harper, of Deloitte Touche. Harper's team included his son, Brandon, and two members of OCC's men's golf team, Joe Yezbak and Justin Gray.

The third-place team was led by OCC president, Gene Farrell. Farrell's teammates included Ken "Divot" Ortiz, Mark Thissel and Paul Lusmann.

Orange Coast College Foundation Hosts Car Show, Raising Over $3000

The Orange Coast College Foundation hosted its first ever car show in May of this year. The show was a resounding success, with over 60 custom cars and bicycles on display for the approximately 500 attendees. The idea for the show was brought to the Foundation by Ricardo Soto, director of the school's symphony and chorus who was looking for a fun way to raise money for his student groups. It turned out to be a real family affair. Ricardo's brother promoted the car show and his cousin donated food for the taco and soda stand; Ricardo's OCC family got involved with students and volunteers entertaining the crowd from a stage set up on one side of the show and by making and selling tacos to the car owners and fans.

Another OCC family, Anthony Trejo from Maintenance and Operations and his sister Doreen from the Culinary Arts department took the opportunity to show their father's beloved 1951 Chevy Pick-up. Like working at Orange Coast College, Anthony and Doreen's mom worked on Campus for many years too, customizing the truck was a true family effort. This showing was especially meaningful as it was the first since their dad's passing a couple of months earlier.

Not only did this event prove to be a great fundraiser by raising over $3000 for OCC's Symphony and Chorus but it was also a great way for students, staff and their families to enjoy each other's common loves of music, good food and great looking cars!

OCC employees Anthony and Doreen Trejo and their family honor their dad's memory by showing his car at the First OCC Classic Car Show on May 1st.

More than 10,000 Turn Out for Orange County Children's Book Festival at OCC

More than 10,000 people turned out Sunday (Oct. 3) for the first Orange County Children's Book Festival, held on the campus quad. Activities ran from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The festival was designed for children, parents, educators, writers, illustrators, and all who love children's books. An OCC Open House was conducted in conjunction with the festival.

"This was a great first crack at holding a children's book festival in Orange County," said festival director, Barry Ackerman.

The first Children's Book Festival was an interactive family affair that invited children of all ages to experience the magic of books. This year's fest featured books, authors, illustrators, characters, exhibitors, food and entertainment. Dozens of book vendors hosted displays, and a variety of different author, illustrator and panel presentations were offered in lecture halls and classrooms throughout the campus.

Several workshops and panel presentations that focused on writing and illustrating books for children were showcased. Festival stages featured live entertainment.

Children's activities included storytelling, face painting, clowns, animals, musicians, readings and drawings. Activities included campus and department tours, games, train rides, food booths, lectures, workshops, science lab activities, performing arts events, displays and demonstrations. Festival sponsors included Orange Coast College, OC Metro, OC Family, KOCE-TV, Radio Disney, Borders, Rockstar, Grandparents Rock, and Little, Brown and Company.

OCC Reaches Out to Foster Youth

In 2003 Orange Coast College joined with Orangewood children's home to offer scholarships to college-bound students who were either exiting the foster care system, had sought emancipation or overcome similar circumstances. With funding from individuals, foundations and corporations, OCC was able to sponsor 37 guardian scholars in Fall of 2004.

The program is dedicated to assisting in these students' development and equipping them with the educational and interpersonal skills necessary to transfer to a four-year college or university, or to pursue an education in the vocation of their choice.

What makes this scholarship program especially rewarding for the Orange Coast College Foundation is its hands-on involvement in the student's educational experience. The Foundation

Office is home base for these students. A computer and work area are set aside for homework, studying and projects. Students make regular visits during the semester to take advantage of the quiet space, ask questions or get support and advice regarding their schedules or long-term educational planning.

Orangewood Children's Foundation

The highlight of last year was watching two students from our initial group of enrollees reach their transfer requirements and move on to four-year universities.

For more information on the program and its students please contact Rene Goode at (714) 432-5749.

Honors Night

Orange Coast College honored more than 500 students at its 47th annual Honors Night Awards Ceremony.

The college handed out in excess of $344,000 in scholarships to 308 students, a new OCC record. More than 200 students received leadership and service awards.

The ceremony, held in OCC's Robert B. Moore Theatre, was attended by a thousand students, parents and guests. Attendees enjoyed a light buffet in the Student Center.

Looking Ahead...

Cline Heads OCC Foundation for 2005-06

Newport Beach resident, David J. Cline, has been elected chair of the Orange Coast College Foundation for 2005-06.

Cline, president of Balboa Instruments in Tustin, has been a member of OCC's Foundation board since 1999. Cline was named OCC's Outstanding Citizen in 2002 for his company's work with local at-risk high school students. In 2000, he was named National Small Business Person of the Year.

Orange Coast College president emeritus, David A. Grant of Newport Beach, is the board's vice chair for 2005-06. Grant, an OCC faculty member and administrator for 33 years, retired in 1995 after serving as the college's president for six years.

Patrick Munoz, a partner with the Orange County law firm of Rutan & Tucker, and a Newport Coast resident, is the board's treasurer. Catherine Thyen, a community leader who lives in Newport Beach, is secretary.

A new regular member of OCC's Foundation Board is Jeff Teller, president of TelPhil, operator of the Orange County Marketplace. Teller lives in Newport Beach.

You believe in the work of Orange Coast College, and you want to ensure that we will be a force for good in the lives and careers of generations of individuals to come. You want your gift to make a difference for us, but are concerned about your own future financial needs and those of your family.

The Orange Coast College Foundation deeply appreciates the support you provide OCC, and we try to make it as rewarding for you as it is for us. That's why we want you to know about the financial tools you can use to plan your gift to us so that it returns benefits to you.

You don't have to use cash to make your gift — you can give us appreciated securities instead, and use an asset that cost you less than the tax deduction you'll get for it today.

You may be holding assets that would benefit us more than they do you — such as a life insurance policy that you no longer need, a parcel of real estate like a second home or undeveloped land, or a collection of books or artwork that you no longer have room to display.

You can make a gift that costs you nothing during your lifetime — make us a beneficiary of your will or revocable trust, or a beneficiary of your retirement plan, and leave your cash flow and current financial planning uninterrupted.

You can make us a partner in your giving — you can deed us your home but continue to live there, you can sell us property at a charitable discount, and you can make a gift that pays you lifetime income.

*These tools are called planned gifts. If you would like to learn more about them please call Doug Bennett
