Endless Scholars

Orange Coast College's

63rd Honors Night

WEDNESDAY | MAY 26, 2021 | 6 P.M.

THE SPIRIT OF OCC

“Summer means many things to many different people.”

—The Endless Summer

In a year that has required professional-surfer-level flexibility to adjust to constantly changing guidelines, recommendations, and safety protocols, it can be hard to dream of brighter days ahead. But dream we must, because the future does not wait.

At Orange Coast College we know you have dreams that are uniquely your own, and we are committed to doing everything we can to help you turn your dreams into your reality. This year, we are awarding close to half a million dollars in scholarships to some 300 student scholars. Scholarship recipients at OCC are representative of many hours of hard work, perseverance and ambition, and we are so proud to honor you tonight.

Here are some examples of the ways our students persevered, thrived, and succeeded during this past challenging year:

- + Last fall, students' efforts to transition OCC into a 100-percent smoke free campus - including applying for and receiving a grant from the Truth Initiative - paid off as the Coast Community College District passed a board policy banning all smoke and tobacco products from campus.
- + In September, the Associated Students of Orange Coast College hosted their first-ever virtual Pirate Involvement Fair, giving all students at Coast a chance to browse clubs through the Club and Organization's page of OCC's website.
- + In October, OCC's top-rated Speech and Debate team added a unique accomplishment to its impressive record - first place at a virtual asynchronous tournament hosted by California Baptist University. Students were required to record and submit their performances prior to the tournament, and were able to compete against schools from all over the country.
- + Students and their family and friends gathered on Zoom in November for a virtual Pirates' Plank competition, where hopeful student entrepreneurs pitched business ideas to a panel of judges made up of local industry executives. Two $500 prizes were awarded for "Most Innovative Business Idea" and "Most Likely to Succeed," and all participants received $100 for their commitment and enthusiasm to the Pirate's Plank event.
- + OCC'S music department students and faculty released a free holiday musical experience in early December to celebrate the end of the semester, and bring joy to all during a challenging season.
- + In February OCC hosted several activities and online events in honor of Black History month, including a contest inviting students to create a black civil rights poster to share with the campus community. OCC's Equity office also organized social media campaigns celebrating Black culture and traditions, such as "Black History Through Food" on Instagram and a "Black History Month Equity Playlist" on YouTube.
- + Fourteen students represented Orange Coast College by presenting talks and demonstrations at the 21st Annual UCI Community College Honors Research Conference in late March.

Tonight we celebrate your dreams, and what's more, we believe in the promise of your bright futures. We know you will make us proud.

CHARLES A. LIPOT MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

Dr. Charles A. Lipot, Lt. Col. USMC. (Ret) — May 22, 1918 - November 5, 1983

Chuck passed away suddenly of a massive heart attack. He was interred in Arlington National Cemetery in Virginia, on the Marine Corps birthday — 10 November — next to two daughters who preceded him. In June 1982, he retired as an administrator from Orange Coast College after thirteen years of service. At the time of his death, he was enrolled in three classes at OCC. Education was of prime interest to him and each of his eight children had the opportunity to obtain college degrees and have a profession.

His primary goal had been medicine, but with funds depleted and with World War II imminent, he entered the United States Marine Corps in 1941, receiving his gold bars three months later. Education was an integral part of service life — as a student and an instructor. He learned the art of survival in the jungle heat of the South Pacific where his tour of duty lasted 27 months. A few years later, he learned a different type of survival in the frozen hills of Korea. His involvement with students included serving as a member of school boards, president of high school P.T.A., advisory board member for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, and he held an Honorary Life Membership in P.T.A. There were many correspondence courses he completed over the years. While in Iwakuni Japan, he taught English to high school students as a volunteer and learned Japanese in return.

When he retired in 1963, it was no surprise the he returned to school, specializing in education. He received his master's degree at CSULB and obtained his elementary and secondary credentials. While teaching biology at Paramount High School, he worked on his doctorate at UCLA, receiving his degree in 1970. He believed that education should be an ongoing part of life.

He was a gentleman who held honesty and integrity to be all important. His faith in God was strong and a source of strength for him. He was "a best friend" to everyone from his youngest grandchild to his wife, and he is sorely missed.

CHERRY GUNDRY MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP FUND

Cherry Gundry came to Orange Coast College in 1960 to teach English. She found wonderful colleagues, an uplifting institution of higher learning, but most of all, she found eager students. What was at first a job became her life and joy. She was never as happy as when she was teaching. There were many times in her life when her education had to be stopped for family and personal situations that arose. She persevered, earning a master's degree while raising two small children as a single mother following her husband's death. She became a life-long learner, taking classes throughout her life.

A scholarship endowment has been set up to honor her memory and assist other students who, like Cherry Gundry, may have had to put aside their dreams for the practical realities of life and are now trying to re-start their education. Applications from single mothers are especially encouraged.

CHILDREN'S CENTER TRIBUTE RUN SCHOLARSHIP

In 1987, the Associated Students of Orange Coast College dedicated their annual Tribute Run fundraiser to the student-parents at the Harry and Grace Steele Children's Center. The result of the run is a perpetual fund that provides scholarships to parents each year.

In choosing student-parents as scholarship recipients, ASOCC recognizes the burdens placed upon these students. Typically, they work long hours, attend classes and do exceptionally well, and still find time for their children. Most of them find time to provide voluntary service in many roles on campus.

To be a student-parent is to sacrifice so that our children will have a better life.

CHRISTINE BALTES MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

Christine Baltès moved from the Chicagoland area to Orange County in 1973, and began her 43 year career as one of the area's foremost educators of jazz dance. Christine taught at OCC from 1991 to 2016. During her 25 years at OCC, she taught jazz, pilates, gyrokinesis, and lecture classes on dance as a profession. Trained and mentored by Gus Giordano, one of the founding fathers of jazz dance, Christine was an exceptional performer, dance educator, and choreographer. She loved, lived, and breathed dance. It was her mission to build a foundation into a dancer's body, through challenging technical movement. A woman who through the test of time, and a changing dance world, stayed true to base line training, core technique, and body alignment. She was capable of changing dancer's bodies, both physically and mentally, forever.

There are those teachers that teach, and there are those that are extraordinary at it and have the ability to change lives, and that was Christine. Her unrelenting drive for perfection and discipline, was matched with an unwillingness to compromise integrity over anything else. Many of her students went into careers in dance, including professional performing, teaching, choreographing, as well as owners of dance studios. Christine had a profound impact on thousands of students, many of whom became life long friends. Christine will be dearly missed, but she will never be forgotten. Her students will carry on her legacy for years to come. R.I.P. 07/05/1951 - 11/24/2018.

CHRISTINE SOLIS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

Christine Solis was born on June 22, and killed by a third - time drunk driver, 33 years later on July 22, 1983. The oldest of three sisters and four brothers, Christine was raised in the city of Santa Ana. She formed her path in life by working in Public Relations, offering her the opportunity to live in Corona Del Mar, during her last years of life.

She attended Orange Coast College at night, focusing on the arts, dance, music and business classes. She loved to learn and truly appreciated attending college at OCC campus; Chrissy felt "at home at this campus".

This graphic art scholarship was started in Christine Solis' memory by her husband to perpetuate her love of the art and her eagerness to help and encourage young artists.

CLIFF MOORE FAMILY SCHOLARSHIP

In memory of a loving husband and father who believed in the value of a good education. There was no money for parental help for Cliff Moore to go to college, so he worked during summers and all through the school year to put himself through the University of Washington, graduating in 1940.

He continued his schooling, taking many subjects over the years, always seeking more knowledge. An avid reader on all subjects, he had a particular love of history and space. A sports fan for all sports, he loved to be outdoors. Mr. Moore left three children, each with a master's degree.

By setting up this scholarship we hope to keep his enthusiasm for learning alive in the future generations of youth who have set high standards for themselves but might not have the means to achieve their goals. It is hoped that this scholarship will, in a small way, encourage these students to continue and not give up.

Throughout his life Corry had a quiet way of living out his faith. Corry had active concern for those who struggled or needed encouragement, whether family, friend, homeless or stranger.

Corry took pride in the OCC Early Childhood Education Lab School. Corry's decade of lobbying played a key role in securing funding for this model facility. He devoted an extreme amount of overtime to the College, locating machinery and equipment for the various shops, building by hand, drafting tables and other equipment, and personally paying for many supplies and materials needed for instruction.

Cy Rockey taught drafting and machine shop and made a significant impact on his students. He was a disciplinarian who expected and got the best out of each of his students.

This scholarship is given on the basis of merit. Cy Rockey felt that the person who really put forth an effort to achieve should be awarded. Students receiving the Cy Rockey award are all outstanding architectural technology majors.

D. TRAVIS KUBIAK SPIRIT SCHOLARSHIP

The Kubiak Family wish to thank those who generously established and continue to support this scholarship honoring their son and brother, Travis. In one of the last conversations Travis had with his mother, he told her how proud he was of her achievements at OCC, and with certainty, we know that he would be profoundly touched by this tribute. The recipient of this scholarship will be an individual who has the personal qualities and values similar to those Travis possessed.

Travis, in his 27 years, lived fully and loved deeply. Born in California, he was educated from the fourth to the ninth grade at International Schools in Japan. An American boy competing in baseball, basketball, and ice hockey, he also studied judo and kendo. With unique experiences and being well traveled, he immersed himself in the culture and spoke Japanese. Choosing to attend boarding school in Newport, Rhode Island, his high school years continued to build Travis' character. Travis was intelligent, artistic, adventuresome, and, most of all, spiritual. Determined to learn to sail in his freshman year, he placed second at Nationals in his junior year and received St George's prestigious sailing cup as a senior.

Once he saw The University of Colorado in Boulder, he knew it was where he wanted to be. He continued to develop everlasting friendships and pursued his love for the outdoors, especially skiing and fly-fishing. He genuinely valued being with people of all ages and backgrounds, and he particularly adored children. He graduated with honors in 2000 and began his professional career as a financial analyst in Denver.

We lost Travis in July 2004, but he left us a gift, his legacy. His amazing energy for life, the profound joy and comfort he found in nature, his caring and compassion for others, along with his immeasurable love for family and friends will forever remind us of that which is most important. How young, but wise and special he was—our Travis.

DAHLLIN FAMILY SCHOLAR/OARSMAN AWARD

“Having rowed myself since the tender age of twelve... I believe I can speak authoritatively on... the unseen values of rowing—the social, moral, and spiritual values of the oldest of chronicled sports in the world. No didactic teaching will place these values in a young man’s soul. He...get[s] them by his own observation and lessons.” George Yeoman Pocock (from The Boys in the Boat)

The Scholar Oarsman is awarded to an OCC second-year oarsman who excels in academic achievement as well as “on the water.” The recipient has proven himself to be an inspiration to his fellow oarsmen and has shown himself to be dedicated to the OCC Men’s Crew program. DANIEL E. SCANLON MEMORIAL AWARD

This award was created to recognize the student that loves math and always desires to learn more. Daniel Scanlon was a prominent figure in the OCC mathematics department. He began his career in 1973 as head of the math lab and sadly his career ended in 2005 when he passed away at the age of 58. Over the course of his 32 year career at OCC he held the position of professor of calculus and also became the chair of the math department.

Dan devoted his life to teaching and always made a special effort for those who had a passion and desire to succeed in Math. He enjoyed helping students with questions during his office hours and was happy to go out of his way to work with those who were devoted to understanding math and excelling in his class. It is for this reason that the Daniel E. Scanlon Memorial Award honors the most dedicated math student. Dan's life was cut unexpectedly short in 2005 before we were ready to lose him. Therefore, those who love Dan created this award to continue Dan's legacy of helping those passionate and deserving students that he dedicated his life and career to mentoring.

spirits have moved on to new adventures; they will always be alive with us in our hearts and in the beautiful world they left behind through their art. We love you P.J. and David.

DAWN BLODGETT MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

What's in a name?

"Dawn is that magical time in the morning just before the sun hits the horizon-a morning full of possibilities.

Dawn began her life given little to no hope of survival to make it through the night, but she fought hard and made it to the morning hours. Her mother took that hopeful sign of perseverance and named her new daughter after that magical time... Dawn.

Dawn lived her life the same way she did those first hours of her life — one with tenacity, positive-thinking, and a hopeful heart. We celebrate Dawn and all that she brought to our world!"

Dawn was born with cerebral palsy and used a wheelchair to buzz around for most of her life. Her story lets you know that her disease did not slow her down or limit her dreams.

Dawn attended OCC from 1991 to 1995. She was very active on campus including competing on the OCC award - winning Speech and Debate Team. Off campus she was the calming voice of a local suicide hot line assisting people through very difficult times with her positive and can-do attitude. She touched the lives of many people, some of whom did not know even who to thank for her efforts on their behalf. In her spare time she became Miss Wheelchair California 1993 and then Miss Wheelchair America 1994. Soon after being crowned Miss Wheelchair America, Dawn toured the country doing motivational speaking at a number of colleges and universities.

In 1995, Dawn was named OCC Disabled Student of the Year.

In her post-OCC life living in the Palm Springs area Dawn was involved in advising newly diagnosed AIDS patients on services and survival as well as acting as an advisor for a local program assisting developmentally disabled adults. She later worked for the Goodwill Industries as a job coach for persons with disabilities. She passed away in December 2010 after a short illness.

Dawn was a powerful combination of fighting spirit and great compassion. She was a wonderful friend and a loving daughter. Her life was about service to others. She is smiling down on us for awarding this scholarship to a deserving student with a disability and a volunteer who helps others.

OSHER FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP

In 2008, The Bernard Osher Foundation made a generous $50 million commitment to the community college of California and the Foundation for California Community Colleges. The gift touches the lives of thousands of community college students each year.

For OCC students and community college students across California, the possibility of a better life begins with higher education. Yet each year more students are struggling to make ends meet and stay in school.

Although OCC and other California community colleges have managed to keep enrollment fees low, affordability has become a growing barrier to student success. Other costs have increased rapidly in recent years, and are now more of a concern to students than enrollment fees. Textbooks, supplies, housing, transportation, child care, and health care now make up nearly 95 percent of a student's financial burden. Today, approximately half of all community college students still have unmet financial need after all financial aid is considered. Every day, California community college students are forced to abandon their education because of financial hardships. The Osher Endowment scholarships address this growing need at Orange Coast and California's 109 other community colleges.

The Scholarships of at least $1,000 per academic year will help financially strained students offset costs, making it possible for them to stay in school with scholarships that help with textbooks, equipment, uniforms, and other instructional supplies.

PAT PATTERSON MEMORIAL FUND

PATRICK J. LIPOT MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

Patrick Joseph Lipot, Masters in Special Education

March 23, 1958-December 28, 1997

Patrick died suddenly of undiagnosed Acute Promylecytic Leukemia. He entered the hospital on Saturday, December 27th with flu like symptoms and died the next morning at 3:15 a.m. He was 39 years old.

In his life Patrick valued many things. He cherished being a husband to Teresa and a daddy to Zachary and Samuel. Many who knew us would comment on what an involved parent he was. He had a devoted Catholic faith, service his Lord with his many talents including youth work, drama, and music. The last song Patrick wrote was a song called "Falling Into the Hands of the Living God," for a Catholic Men's Fellowship Conference. Patrick loved education and prided himself in developing creative ways to motivate his students at Wadsworth Avenue School in South Central Los Angeles. He was proud of his achievements, having earned his Masters Degree in special Education at Cal State Dominguez Hills, the May before his death. He loved Literature and had earned a Bachelors Degree from CSULB after attending OCC for his early coursework. Patrick was a prolific writer and we are blessed to have boxes of original songs and poems he wrote. Patrick spent his high school years at Fountain Valley, participating in both the band and football. His television debut was at the age of nine when he went on Art Linkletter's, "Kids Say the Darndest Things" Show. It was during this time the he began developing his interest in music eventually learning to play the clarinet, flute, sax and piano.

The years Zack and Sammy spent at OCC's Lab School was a time of joy for the four of us. Patrick would bring his flutes into the boys classrooms to share with the children, while our boys would beam with pride. Patrick's Christmas cookies, the infamous Rum Logs, better know as "Lum Rogs" were cautiously enjoyed by all the staff.

Patrick had a gentle spirit about him that others would frequently comment on. He survived the loss of a sister when he was ten and his father when he was 26, and despite these losses went on to find joy and meaning in his life. He is tenderly missed by all of his family and friends.

My Daddy

My Daddy was a good music man. I didn't want him to die. I was sad.

It was hard for me, but I made it through. And I'm still sad but I still love him. And I still wish that he was alive still but that doesn't mean that he can come back. Everyone has to die though. But the best part about dying is you get as many treats as you want in heaven. And I'm not afraid to die because my daddy is up there.

And when I die my kids will grow up and have kids.

During his long career, he taught at every level from elementary school to graduate education. Even in retirement he remained active in his efforts to make Coast a better place for students.

Ron understood the importance of all three pillars of excellence in the profession. First, he was a master in the classroom, giving unlimited energy to insuring that his students would be successful. He was a true innovator, among the earliest at OCC to experiment with modern student-centered instruction as far as 40 years ago. Second, he understood the importance of learning acquired through co-curricular activities and fully supported a wide variety of activities from music and theater to athletics to student government programs. Third, he embraced professional involvement beyond the classroom. He was a founding member of the Trabuco Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa; a founding board member of the OCC Emeritus Institute; and a frequent participant and presenter at professional conferences at the local, state and national levels. He was part of the team that wrote the most widely used K-12 math series ever published.

Beyond all that, Ron was a man of character and leadership, a man whose word was his bond, and who would have done anything to help a student, colleague, friend or family member. This was clear, even in his last days, as former students and friends came to visit and say goodbye. He will be missed.

ROUNDTABLE FOR FOOD PROFESSIONALS

ROY AND HARRIET ZHE MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

Roy and Harriet were born and raised in rural Wisconsin and knew each other from childhood. They started dating in the middle of the Great Depression but they stayed hopeful.

They married when the world was at war but maintained their faith in a better life. They believed in hard work, fair play and helping others.

Both developed disabilities at a young age. At age six Roy contracted polio leaving his left arm paralyzed; tough on a farm but he made it work. He always said he could milk cows one handed with the best of them. A few years after contracting polio he climbed the windmill on the family farm. He was just not sure how to get down. With his mom crying at the base of the windmill and his dad directing, Roy made it safely down to a hug from his mom and a stern lecture from his dad though both were proud of their son's perseverance.

Harriet developed diabetes at the age of fifteen and used insulin daily from that time forward. She did not let that limit her even with subsequent medical complications. When they moved to California during the war they went to work in the shipyards, Harriet in the supply control booth and Roy as a welder. For a short time after the war they owned a small grocery store with another couple. Harriet had just served a Japanese-American couple when a customer complained to her about serving Japanese. Harriet calmly said, "Their money is just as green as anyone else and if that is a problem you can always shop elsewhere."

Roy later worked helping people find jobs and then managing those programs. He took up golf later in life and scored a hole-in-one in his 60's. Harriet worked as a transcriber and later a legal secretary. Harriet passed away in 1980. Roy passed in 2001. They had one son and two grandchildren. This scholarship is award to a student with a disability who demonstrates hard work, fair play and the desire to help others.

One year later to the day, on his second combat mission, the B-17 Flying Fortress in which he served as an aerial gunner, was shot down over Bleshamer, Germany, and all except two crew members perished.

Sherry did not go to war because he loved to fight; he loathed fighting. He went as a duty to mankind, as the honorable thing to do, standing squarely for what he considered the highest expression of right, not counting the cost. He loved peace, but he loved justice more.

The gift of an endowed scholarship in Sherry's name is provided by the trustees of the Sherry Griswold Foundation in the hope that its influence will always be effectively expanding his love of peace and goodwill to mankind.

WILLIAM MASON & JAYNE LEE HAMILTON
MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

William Mason Hamilton was born on 31 July 1952 at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, D.C. Jayne B. Lee was born on 13 January 1957, one of the first set of twins born at Donald Sharp Memorial Hospital in San Diego, California. Mason and his wife Jayne were both killed in an auto accident on June 19, 1982.

Mason, as an Army child, lived in several states and Hawaii, Japan, and Berlin, Germany. Upon completion of his education, he went backpacking to New Zealand and Australia, eventually finding a Buddhist Monastery in Ubon, Thailand where he was a monk for four years. Upon his return to the United States and his marriage to Jayne Lee, he was studying to become a nurse when their deaths occurred. Jayne, after completion of high school, was studying animal technology and working in San Diego and La Jolla when she married Mason. Mason & Jayne are survived by their daughter, Metta Noel Hamilton.

Their parents and friends have established this scholarship for the purpose of assisting students in the nursing program.
